

Andrew H. Kimball

In July 2013, Andrew Kimball joined Jamestown Properties, a national developer focused on the revitalization of underutilized urban assets, as National Director of Innovation Economy Initiatives. Shortly thereafter, Jamestown tapped Mr. Kimball to also serve as CEO of Industry City directing the redevelopment of this six million square foot facility in Sunset Park.

From 2005 to 2013, Mr. Kimball served as President and Chief Executive Officer of the Brooklyn Navy Yard Development Corporation (BNYDC) overseeing the transformation of this 300-acre former Naval ship-building facility. Under Mr. Kimball's leadership, the Navy Yard became a national model of the creation of innovation economy jobs and sustainability. Mr. Kimball successfully leveraged $250 million of City, State and federally-funded infrastructure improvements to generate over $750 million in private investment and 3000 new jobs. Mr. Kimball significantly broadened BNYDC's commitment to providing job placement services to the local community, environmental sustainability, and the celebration of the Navy Yard's rich history.

Prior to his Navy Yard appointment, Mr. Kimball served as Director of Operations for NYC2012, the privately-funded bid to bring the 2012 Olympic Games to New York City, and as Vice President of the New York Public Library. He holds a BA from Hamilton College and is a graduate of the Coro Public Affairs Fellowship program. Mr. Kimball lives in Park Slope, Brooklyn, with his wife, Sarah Williams, and two children and serves on the Board of the Prospect Park Alliance and is Vice-Chair of the Coro New York Leadership Center Board.
