

Joseph Gurkovich, Vice President - Development Mr. Gurkovich manages development projects from conceptual design, municipal, state and federal land approvals through to construction. In addition, while at Roseland, he has managed the environmental remediation operations for the 200 acre Port Imperial development sites along the Weehawken and West New New York waterfront. Prior to joining Roseland Property Company in 2000, Mr. Gurkovich was a senior associate at Langan Engineering for over 20 years where he managed the planning, design and engineering aspects of various residential, commercial and institutional development projects throughout New Jersey and the metropolitan area . Mr. Gurkovich received a B.S. in Environmental Planning and Landscape Architecture and a Masters in City and Regional Planning from Rutgers University and has national accreditation from the American Institute of Certified Planners and is a Licensed Professional Planner in New Jersey.